Contents of Vol. 122

Part 1

CH. VANROELEN, F. HARRISSON, L. ANDRIES and L. VAKAET. Resolution in light microscope autoradiography using a carbon-14 labelled line source 1

T. M. MAYHEW. On the relative efficiencies of alternative ratio estimators for morphometric analysis of cell membrane surface features 7

G. H. HAGGIS and E. F. BOND. A new approach to the study of the E. coli nucleoid 15

S. D. DOVER, A. ELLIOTT and A. K. KERNAGHAN. Three-dimensional reconstruction from images of tilted specimens: the paramyosin filament 23

D. VOLLATH. The application of a normalized correlation function in image analysis 35

D. GREEN, G. R. HOWELLS and M. C. THORNE. Morphometric studies on mouse bone using a computer-based image-analysis system 49

ANTOINE A. ABUGABER, ELISABETH D. LALAGUE, ADOLPHE ROY, MARC R. CHAMPAGNE and GILLES H. COUSINEAU. The use of various buffers in the preparation of human lymphocytes for SEM observation 59

THOMAS A. MARINO, LARRY COOK, P. NONG COOK and SAMUEL J. DWYER, III. The use of a computerized algorithm to determine single cardiac cell volumes 65

ALAN BOYDE and FRANTISEK FRANC. Freeze-drying shrinkage of glutaraldehyde fixed liver 75

N. F. JOHNSON and K. IBE. Sectioning and imaging hard mineral fibres in biological tissues 87

MICHAEL J. LAWRENCE. The design of terrestrial and aquatic micro-environmental chambers for use in low powered video, cine and photomicrography 93

Short Technical Notes

JACKIE F. LEWIN. Minimizing sampling error in transmission electron microscopy 99

A. J. BOWER. A simple, inexpensive apparatus to allow sequential perfusion of an animal with several different fluids without an intervening drop in perfusion pressure 103

RODNEY COLEMAN. The construction of invariant random paths through three-dimensional specimens 105

Book Review 107

Part 2

G. F. Slattery, P. O'Riordan, M. E. Lambert and S. M. Green. An integrated electron and optical metallographic procedure for the identification of precipitate phases in type 316 stainless steel 109

K.-H. Hanisch and D. Stoyan. Stereological estimation of the radial distribution function of centres of spheres 131

L. M. Cruz-Orive and A. O. Myking. Stereological estimation of volume ratios by systematic sections 143

Terje Espevik and Arnljot Elgsaeter. A freeze-etch electron microscopic study of liquid propane jet-frozen human erythrocyte membranes 159

J. Lawrence Paul. Distribution curves of sectional areas through some families of convex particles 165

C. A. Bourgeois, J. Zalta, J. C. Lacaze, G. Zanchi, Y. Kihn, M. Bouteille, B. Jouffrey and J. P. Zalta. High voltage electron microscopy of cell nucleus fractions: feasibility studies 173

W. Baumann, A. Niemietz, L. Reimer and B. Volbert. Preparation of P-47 scintillators for STEM 181

Oscar W. Richards, Steven M. Mathews and Steven M. Shaefer. Focused apparent image position with convergent, parallel binocular and monocular microscopes 187

Paul V. C. Hough and Wayne R. McKinney. Excitation under the scanning electron microscope of DNA-associated fluorescence from chicken erythrocyte nuclei, polytene chromosomes and adenovirus 2 virions 193

Short Technical Notes

G. F. Sargent, T. A. Sims and A. S. McNeish. The use of polystyrene microcarriers to prepare cell monolayers for transmission electron microscopy 209

Peter R. Richards. A technique for obtaining ribbons of epoxy and other plastic sections for light microscope histology 213

P. M. Frederik and W. M. Busing. Strong evidence against section thawing whilst cutting on the cryo-ultratome 217
